Pittsburgh Associations

Professional, social, and cultural associations are wonderful ways for people to meet, collaborate, and excel. They are also a great resource for recruiters and hiring managers when looking to attract diverse applicants to open positions. In Pittsburgh, we have many of these associations with hundreds of members that recruiters could reach out to with appropriate positions that might interest them. Below is just an example of the wonderful groups that Pittsburghers can join and recruiters can keep in mind while head-hunting new talent.
